- Photomontage with Wireline (53.5° HFOV)

Existing View

This view looks out from the benches next to the war memorial at Inverkip. The nearby open space, road and car parking backed by trees looking inland and the eye is naturally drawn out across the water, with the main focus being the longer views out to the islands and west to the southern end of the Cowal Peninsula. The Site can be seen to the north-west above Dunoon and overlapping hills can be seen beyond Holy Loch to the north.

Predicted Change

The proposed turbines would be seen on the open skyline above the forestry and Dunoon. At night all three of the turbine lights would be visible, seen above the streetlights and lights in buildings seen along the coastline towards Dunoon.

Cumulative

It is likely that all or most of the turbines at Inverchaolain wind farm (depending on its final design) may be visible from this viewpoint, seen to the left of the Proposed Development.
